

MVF-114 Operation Flax WW2 - Malta

In 1943, Operation Flax was an Allied bombing of Axis airfields to cut airborne supplies to the German Africa Corps in Tunisia.

B-25 Mitchell

B-17 Flying Fortress

Aircraft B-25 Mitchell, B-17 Flying Fortress (Or any appropriate aircraft)

Missions

1. B17 aircraft from 97th Bomb Group depart Luqa, LMML. Low level bombing attack at Trapani Brig Mil, LICT. Return to Malta. 316 nm.
2. B17 aircraft from 97th Bomb Group depart Luqa, LMML. Low level bombing attack at Catania, LICC. Return to Luqa. 202 nm.
3. B25 aircraft from 321st Bomb Group depart Luqa, LMML. Low level bombing attack at Palermo, LICP. Return to Luqa. 294 nm.
4. B25 aircraft from 321st Bomb Group depart Luqa. Low level bombing attack at Punta Raisi, LICJ. Return to Luqa. 312 nm.

NOTAMS:

Total 1124 nm.

Four flights for ribbon credit.